

Tenure-Track position
Professorial Stream or Teaching Stream
Department of Economics
Glendon College
York University

The Department of Economics at Glendon College, York University invites applications for either a professorial or teaching stream tenure-track position in Economics at the rank of Assistant Professor to commence July 1, 2020. A PhD or a PhD near completion in Economics with a specialization in Macroeconomics, Monetary Economics, or any related subfield of Macroeconomics is required.

For both streams, the successful candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate courses and to provide creative educational leadership in enhancing teaching and learning through curricular and pedagogical innovation in the classroom and at the level of programs. The successful candidate will demonstrate excellence or clear potential for excellence in teaching university-level courses, a strong commitment to pedagogy and student success and the capacity to bring a theoretical and practical orientation to teaching, learning and program design. The successful candidate will demonstrate good judgment and a reflective approach to teaching innovation. Teaching stream candidates will have a record of pedagogical innovation in high priority areas such as experiential education, technology enhanced learning and community-based learning is preferred as is experience with curriculum development and universal design approaches to teaching and assessment. Professorial stream candidates will be expected to show excellence or promise of excellence in scholarly research, demonstrate an ongoing research agenda and be suitable for prompt appointment to the Faculty of Graduate Studies. The successful candidate in either stream is expected to provide evidence of service contributions or potential to contribute to service in administrative and committee work.

Given Glendon's bilingual mandate, the selected candidate will also participate actively in College-wide service activities in both English and French.

York U's bilingual Glendon Campus is home to Southern Ontario's Centre of Excellence for French Language and Bilingual Postsecondary Education. Glendon comprises about 2700 students on a scenic campus in the heart of the cosmopolitan city of Toronto. Glendon is committed to high-quality teaching in the tradition of the liberal arts and offers a unique undergraduate academic experience for students within one of Canada's largest research universities. For information about Glendon and its particular programs, please consult the Faculty webpage at www.glendon.yorku.ca.

York University has a policy on Accommodation in Employment for Persons with Disabilities and is committed to working towards a barrier-free workplace and to expanding the accessibility of the workplace to persons with disabilities. Candidates who require accommodation during the selection process are invited to contact Professor Can Erutku, Chair of the Search Committee, at cerutku@glendon.yorku.ca.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. All York University positions are subject to budgetary approval.

York University is an Affirmative Action (AA) employer and strongly values diversity, including gender and sexual diversity, within its community. The AA Program, which applies to women, members of visible minorities (racialized groups), Aboriginal (Indigenous) people and persons with disabilities, can be found at www.yorku.ca/acadjobs or by calling the AA line at 416-736-5713. Applicants wishing to self-identify as part of York University's Affirmative Action program can do so by downloading, completing and submitting the form found at <http://acadjobs.info.yorku.ca/affirmative-action/self-identification-form>. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens, permanent residents and Indigenous peoples in Canada will be given priority. No application will be considered without a completed mandatory Work Status Declaration form which can be found at <http://acadjobs.info.yorku.ca/affirmative-action/work-authorization-form>.

All applicants should submit a signed letter of application indicating which stream they are applying for and outlining their professional experience. A complete application must also include an up-to-date curriculum vitae and a teaching dossier which supports excellence and innovation in teaching (e.g., sample course outlines, teaching reviews, workshop and professional development programs attended or led, and conference papers and publications relating to pedagogy). Professorial stream applicants should also include a research paper.

All candidates must arrange for three signed confidential letters of recommendation to be sent to Professor Can Erutku, Chair of the Search Committee, Glendon College, York University, 2275 Bayview Avenue, Toronto, Ontario M4N 3M6 or cerutku@glendon.yorku.ca. Referees should provide strong letters of reference and be advised to address the candidate's qualifications and experience in relation to the position. The deadline for receipt of completed applications is November 30, 2019.