b Intersectionality Noting that: Intersectionality is a way of acknowledging that there are multiple interlocking systems of power and oppression on the basis of race, gender, sexual identification, class, disability, etc. Most people are in multiple social categories and have lived experiences of multiple forms of oppression. Intersectional analysis allows us to understand variations in the experience of inequality and privilege. An intersectional approach requires the Employer and the Union to adopt a nuanced approach to workplace equity. In recognition of the principles of seniority and incumbency, the Employer shall prioritize equity from an intersectional perspective for the appointment or selection procedures, or programs outlined throughout the Collective Agreement. That means in addition to adhering to seniority and incumbency, the Employer has to prioritize applicants who have been historically marginalized in employment, as set out below in Article 5.03.5 (a)i. This is consistent with the Ontario Human Rights Commission’s approach that accounts for both people’s multiple lived realities and the social context of discrimination. For the purposes of data collection and analysis, and Article 12.04 of the Unit 2 collective agreement, “Intersectionality” means the classification of self-identification information for employment equity purposes, considering combinations of two or more of the Equity Groups.	(b) Intersectionality For the purposes of the Collective Agreement, Intersectionality means the classification of self-identification information for employment equity purposes, considering combinations of two or more of the Equity Groups.

Letter of Understanding - Priority for Indigenous or racialized Candidates - Article 12.04.1

The parties agree as follows:

1. Where a candidate who self-identifies as Indigenous or racialized is appointed in accordance with Article 12.04.1(ii), then a senior candidate who does not so self-identify and who would have otherwise been appointed to the position by virtue of their seniority (“the Senior Employee”) and has incumbency under Article 12.06.1 will receive two-fifths of the salary for the position (“the Payment”), subject to the following:
 - (a) The Payment will be paid to the Senior Employee once for any given course; and
 - (b) The Payment will not occur where the Senior Employee has a workload in the academic year that is equivalent to the workload in the prior academic year in which these circumstances occur.
2. No grievance will be filed challenging an appointment made under Article 12.04.1(ii)(d).
3. This Letter of Understanding shall be placed in the 2020-23 collective agreement booklet and shall form part of the 2020-23 collective agreement. It will expire with the commencement of the renewal collective agreement following the 2020-23 collective agreement and shall be removed from the collective agreement booklet for the renewal collective agreement, unless this Letter of Understanding is renewed by the parties.

Without Prejudice – Joint Statement on Equity Issues

Upon the negotiation of the 2020-23 York-CUPE 3903 Unit 2 Collective Agreement, the parties agreed that this document be placed in the Appendices of the 2020-23 Collective Agreement on a without prejudice basis relative to the interpretation or application of all other terms of the collective agreement:

1. During collective bargaining, the parties agreed on enhancements to provisions throughout the collective agreement on equity issues so that the administration of the collective agreement will better serve to increase the representation and inclusion of members of equity seeking groups.
2. The parties also recognized through collective bargaining that not all of their perspectives and aspirations are easily captured in a collective agreement, which ultimately is a legal document between the parties and must be written and administered as such. Collective agreement language setting out certain perspectives and aspirations may well have benefits, but it may also diminish the clarity of collective agreement language and thus interfere with the ease of administering certain provisions related to equity and thus interfere with the positive intentions behind such provisions.
3. Accordingly, the parties note as follows:
 - a. At Article 5.03.3(b) the parties have agreed to a definition of Intersectionality. While that definition has the benefit of clarity, CUPE had proposed a broader definition which in its view captured the social context in which intersectionality should be understood and thus the importance of the parties’ recognition of intersectionality in the collective agreement. The Employer acknowledges that perspective. The parties agree that the definition placed in the collective agreement does not signify a choice of one definition over the other, but rather accepts the utility of the shorter definition at Article 5.03.3(b) for the purpose of collective agreement administration.
 - b. At Article 5.03.3(c) and (d) the parties have defined both:
 - External Availability Data; and
 - General Workforce Population Equity Group Data.

The former is intended to provide specific targets in the collective agreement, guiding the parties as to where internal data may reveal underrepresentation relative to the externally available contract faculty workforce, for which certain other provisions set out on the collective agreement are activated in order to address such underrepresentation.

The latter, while not applied in the administration of any provision of the collective agreement, is nevertheless helpfully defined as a resource for the Employment Equity Committee in order that the parties remain aware of the general population of Equity Groups within the broader society.

Specifically, the current General Workforce Population Equity Group Data are:

- i) for Canada as a whole:
 - a. Women: 48.2%
 - b. Racialized people: 21.3%
